EOS IM continues to strengthen its Infrastructure Strategy investment team with the appointment of Claudio Vescovo as Senior Partner

London | Luxembourg | Milan, 25 February 2026 – EOS Investment Management Group (EOS IM), an independent asset manager and leading player in sustainable investing and energy transition, announces the strengthening of its Infrastructure Strategy team with the appointment of Claudio Vescovo as Senior Partner.

Claudio Vescovo's arrival is part of the development and consolidation of EOS IM's infrastructure platform, which began in recent years to support the growth of investment strategies and respond in an increasingly structured manner to the needs of institutional investors.

Claudio Vescovo has over twenty years of international experience in infrastructure investments, gained in London, Paris, Rotterdam, Brussels and Milan. Throughout his career, he has contributed significantly to the development of energy transition as an institutional asset class in Europe, building and scaling both equity and private credit platforms. He was involved in the development of a leading European asset manager focused on energy transition, which grew from an emerging player to a global operator with several billion euros under management, until its subsequent sale to a leading US institutional investor.

Claudio has managed investments of approximately €2 billion in renewable energy in six European countries, generating multiples of up to 3x and IRRs in excess of 20%. In infrastructure credit, he led the launch of one of the first high-yield platforms dedicated to infrastructure in Europe, raising approximately €1 billion, with returns significantly above the benchmark target. He is also recognised for his contribution to pioneering transactions that have helped set new standards in the European energy transition finance market.

In his new role as Senior Partner, Infrastructure, Claudio Vescovo will contribute to the evolution of EOS IM's infrastructure investment strategy and to the value creation plans for the investment portfolio of the funds promoted and managed by the Group.

At the same time, as part of the development of the Infrastructure platform, EOS IM has also promoted Diego Parra to Senior Investment Director, Riccardo Belli to Investment Director and Mauro D'Addetta to Senior Technical Director, confirming the Group's focus on developing and nurturing internal talent and recognising the contribution made by these professionals to the execution of investment strategies and the growth in value of the Group's assets.

"The arrival of Claudio Vescovo represents a key step in the growth of our Infrastructure and Energy Transition platform," commented Ciro Mongillo, CEO of EOS Investment Management Group. "His track record in infrastructure investments, together with the growth of our internal talent, further strengthens our ability to offer high-quality investment solutions in an increasingly complex market environment."

With these appointments, EOS IM consolidates an investment model based on experience, team depth and discipline, with a long-term vision aligned with the interests of its investors, strengthening its presence in the European infrastructure market with a focus on energy transition.
